

Leeds English Language School

Student objectives

In order to maintain harmony between the wishes of the long-term and short-term students the school's programme of study attempts to satisfy both through the individual level syllabuses, classroom teaching, available learning materials, social activity programme and the culture within the school. The general emphasis is on longer term students who have the goal of achieving an IELTS score to enable them to move on to further study in the UK.

The general English programme is supplemented by academic English skills from pre-intermediate level. The skills, grammar and vocabulary taught at all levels can be applied to living in the UK and studying in an academic setting. Students also have Individual Learning Plans (ILPs) which cater to their specific learning needs and goals. They also have ILP study periods after class where they can work on these needs and goals with the supervision of a teacher.

Students join an IELTS preparation level after successful completion of an intermediate level, or if they attain an overall score of 5.5 in the IELTS exam with no individual score of less than 5
